Editor's Comment:

After carefully reviewing the reviewer comments and the revised manuscript, I suggest the paper to be rejected.

The paper doesn't explain clearly the federated learning and its relationship to deep learning before delving into the research problem and its results. And I also agree with the reviewers that the structure of the manuscript is not appropriate, and it needs more sources and the conclusion needs to clarify and present the real and actual results of the topic, with the following issues:

- Too many keywords

- Results are not exist

- Methodology is not exists

- Discussion is very poor

- Conclusion need more clarification

- The LR is not enough

- paper structure needs improvement
